

are contained in this evening's London newspapers.

The entire English speaking world follows his progress with sympathy and concern," says the Westminster Gazette. "His collapse is due to the sacrifice of himself for the cause he valued so much—democracy, justice and peace. If the task is unfinished, that only means that humanity still needs his cooperation all the more."

The Evening News says: "No man in the world of democracy had to bear a greater burden. We trust that enforced rest will restore him to health and strength, so that he may bring his work to a fitting conclusion."

By the Associated Press.

VIENNA, Oct. 6 (delayed).—Vienna newspapers contained today, for the first time, editorial comment on the illness of President Wilson. The Volksblatt says: "The spirit of the Master walked through the world, but from whom we hoped for salvation did not see him, nor did he grasp the mantle. He is now stretched on his bed, where he has ample time to reflect on his lost opportunities."

Recounting the sacrifices made by America on entering the war, the Neue Presse comments on Mr. Wilson's "high ideals at the beginning and his subsequent actions." It then says: "If his illness forces him to abandon office, it will be an important political event, because it would then become doubtful if the peace treaty with the League of Nations would be ratified by the Senate."

Speculating on world politics as they would develop in such an event, the newspaper predicts: "The whole peace of Versailles would totter. The peace is as sick as Mr. Wilson."

BALDWIN, SLACKER, GETS JOB AS COOK

Preparing Himself to Become Labor Organizer.

Special Despatch to The Sun.

St. Louis, Oct. 6.—Roger Nash Baldwin, former secretary of the Civil League of St. Louis and instructor in sociology at Washington University, has returned to St. Louis to accept a position as second cook in a restaurant. A pacifist, draft evader and self-styled reformer, Baldwin was released only a few weeks ago from the Essex county jail in Caldwell, N. J., after serving nine months of a one year sentence for evading the draft.

Baldwin came to the city "riding the road" of a freight train from Peoria. He had paid his way there from Chicago. He did not bring his bride, who until his release from jail was Miss Madeline Zabriskie, Doty of New York, a social worker, lawyer, author and reformer of considerable repute.

"I have come to the middle West to gather some knowledge I want for myself concerning labor conditions," Baldwin said this morning. "I am going to work as a common laborer for a while, and after, about December 1, I expect to return to the East and go into the labor movement as an executive and organizer."

He said he believes a social revolution is developing which will overthrow capital and gain control of all industries for the laboring class.

WILSON'S FOREIGN GIFTS ARE LISTED

Tumulty Responds to Resolution Introduced in the House.

MRS. WILSON'S TOKENS TOO

Secretary Says President Was Preparing Report on His Departure West.

Special Despatch to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—A detailed list of the presents received by the President and Mrs. Wilson while abroad was made public today by Mr. Tumulty, the President's secretary. He said the list was made public in response to the resolution introduced in the House by Representative Roderick (Ill.), and in response to remarks made on the Senate floor by Senators Sherman (Ill.) and Penrose (Pa.). Mr. Tumulty said also that the list was compiled by him at the direction of Mrs. Wilson and the President.

Mr. Tumulty said that outside of a number of small gifts such as books, walking sticks, an old silver dish, war souvenirs made by soldiers, or out of way material and numerous medals struck off in his honor, the following are the only important gifts received by the President in Europe:

IN ENGLAND.

Photographs of the King and Queen of England.

A book relating to Windsor Castle.

The freedom of the City of London, presented in a gold casket, by the Lord Mayor at Guildhall.

IN ITALY.

A water color picture, on bronze enamel, presented by the Queen of Italy.

A bronze figure presented at the Capitol in Rome (a gift from the people).

A figure of "Italia victoriosa," sent to the train at Genoa, either by a school or by the citizens of Genoa.

A set of books from the citizens of Genoa.

A mosaic presented by the Pope.

IN FRANCE.

A bronze figure, presented by a body of students.

"The President also received numerous honorary degrees from nearly all of the countries of Europe, and many resolutions of respect and gratitude," continued Mr. Tumulty.

"Knowing that there is a Constitutional inhibition against the President receiving gifts from foreign rulers or States, the President, after consulting the Secretary of State, was preparing a list of the presents he intended to ask the permission of Congress to retain just before he started on his Western trip."

In addition to the gifts received by the President the following tokens were presented to Mrs. Wilson while she was in Europe, according to the President's secretary:

You need not Suffer

BELL'S Hot Water Cure FOR INDIGESTION

IN FRANCE.

A pin of Parisian enamel with tiny diamond chips, presented in Hotel de Ville by the city of Paris.

A small hand embroidered lunch set (small cloth and dozen napkins) in a case, presented through Madame Poincaré and Madame Pichon by the working women of France.

IN BELGIUM.

A small medal by Cardinal Mercier.

A Belgian lace table cover, presented by the Queen.

A complete file of the Libre Belgique (the paper published during the German occupation), presented by the King, in leather folder.

IN ITALY.

A reproduction of the "Wolf and Romulus and Remus," in gold, presented by the people through private subscription.

A piece of lace in leather case, presented by Signor Orlando in behalf of "His Colleagues."

A small reproduction in silver of a pitcher found in the ruins of Pompeii.

"In making this statement I am acting upon the express direction of the President and Mrs. Wilson," concluded Mr. Tumulty.

COL. HOUSE SAILS FOR U. S.

Leaves West for New York on Transport Northern Pacific.

BRISTOL, Oct. 6.—Col. E. M. House sailed for New York today on the transport Northern Pacific.

The "Colonel" arrived in Bristol in the morning from Paris and boarded the transport, which left shortly afterward.

MOTOR THEFT BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Heavy Penalties for Leaving State in Stolen Car.

Special Despatch to The Sun.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The Senate passed today, with amendments, the House bill to punish the interstate theft of automotive vehicles. The elastic "commerce clause" is stretched to meet the emergency, the bill being entitled "An act to punish the transportation of stolen motor vehicles in interstate or foreign commerce."

Driving a motor vehicle across a State line is made transportation of it in interstate commerce. To do this, with knowledge that the vehicle has been stolen, is a felony subject to a maximum of $5,000 fine, or five years imprisonment, or both.

To "receive, store, conceal, harbor, sell or dispose of a motor vehicle moving as or which is a part of interstate commerce, with intent to deprive the owner of the possession thereof," is likewise made a felony subject to the same penalties. Offenders may be punished in any district in or through which the motor vehicle has been transported by the offender.

The House bill contained a proviso that "a judgment of conviction or acquittal on the merits, under the laws of any State, of any defendant charged with stealing a motor vehicle shall, as against any such defendant, be a bar to prosecution hereunder for transporting such vehicle in interstate commerce."

This was stricken out by the Senate. If the amendments stand it will be possible for much severer penalties to be inflicted under the Federal act than are in some cases imposed by State courts.

2 NEGROES BURNED TO DEATH; 1 SHOT

Georgia Mob Averages Slaying of Deputy Sheriff.

LINCOLN, Ga., Oct. 6.—Three negroes to-night had paid Lynch law's penalty for the fatal shooting early Sunday morning of Red Freeman, a deputy sheriff of Lincoln county.

The mob, which spent all yesterday and most of last night searching through swamps and canebrakes for Jack Gordon, the negro accused of killing the sheriff, had dispersed to-night and the county was quiet, although a search was being made for evidence showing that other negroes were implicated in the shooting.

Gordon and William Brown, who is alleged to have aided Gordon in escaping after the shooting, were burned at the stake before daylight today by a mob of 1,000 persons after Gordon had been taken from Lincoln county officers who captured him.

More Freeman, a negro charged with misleading members of the mob during their search for Gordon, was shot to death when he tried to escape. Deputy Sheriff Freeman died late today from the gunshot wound inflicted by Gordon.

Gordon was caught five miles from Washington, Ga., late Sunday night and kept in jail there until 2 o'clock this morning, when he was turned over to the authorities of this county. Once in Lincoln county, the mob seized the negro, brought up Brown, who had been caught earlier in the night, and fastened both to an old wagon axle. Wood and trash were piled around the negroes and the torch applied.

RAISULI DRIVEN INTO TRAP.

Spanish Confine Bandit to Djerida Heights Retreat.

MADRID, Oct. 6.—All objectives have been gained in the successful operations against Raisuli in Morocco, according to an official review of the campaign just issued by Premier Toca. The total Spanish losses in the campaign in which Raisuli's principal strongholds were stormed were only one killed and twenty-nine wounded.

Despatches from Algeiras state that after the capture of his strongholds, Fondak and Ain Medija, Raisuli is now confined to the Djerida Heights.

Discrimination—not routine physical labor.

PIRIE MACDONALD Photographer of Men.

INDUSTRIAL PARLEY OPENS IN CAPITAL

Continued from First Page.

outline the organization, to name rules and methods of procedure.

The nominations were reported in short order as follows:

Nominating Committee—Representing Employers—Herbert P. Perkins of the International Harvester Company, representing the Chamber of Commerce of the United States; J. W. O'Leary of A. J. O'Leary & Sons, Chicago, National Industrial Conference; Edgar L. Marston of Blair & Co., New York City, Investment Bankers Association.

Representing Labor—Frank Morrison, secretary A. F. of L.; Daniel J. Tobin, treasurer A. F. of L., and L. E. Sheppard, Order of Railway Conductors.

Representing the public: A. A. London, American Radiator Company, Buffalo; E. T. Meredith, editor Successful Farming, Des Moines; Robert S. Brookings, Washington University, St. Louis.

Rules Committee.

Representing employers: Edwin Farnum Green, Pacific Mills, Boston, National Industrial Conference; Henry A. Wheeler, Union Trust Company, Chicago, Chamber of Commerce of the United States; T. C. Atkins, National Grange, Washington, Farmers Organizations.

Representing labor: W. D. Mahon, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees; Matthew Woll, vice-president A. F. of L.; W. G. Lee, head of the Order of Railway Trainmen.

Representing the public: Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman War Trade Board; L. Chadbourne, 14 Wall street, New York; John D. Rockefeller, Jr., 35 Broadway, New York City.

Objects to Adjournment.

When the names were reported back to the conference, W. D. Mahon, labor representative, moved adjournment until tomorrow morning to give the committee opportunity to give the conference a public representative, who had missed the passage between Mr. Chadbourne and Mr. Mahon, started another vigorous protest, declaring the conference should set an example to the country by working.

He withdrew it before concluding when told the explanation of Mr. Mahon. The two committees met immediately upon adjournment in conference rooms of the Pan-American Building. That the nominating committee had little difficulty was indicated by a short session, lasting under an hour. Its report is being held as confidential. Whether the conference is to name one of its own members as permanent chairman or whether a chairman of commerce of the United States, Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago; Ernest T. Trigg, Philadelphia; Herbert

For Perkins, Chicago; John J. Raskob, Wilmington, Del.; and Homer L. Ferguson, Newport News, Va.

Farmers' organizations: J. N. Tittlemore, Omro, Wis.; T. C. Atkinson, Washington, D. C.; and C. S. Barrett, Union City, Ga.

Investment Bankers' Association of America: Edgar L. Marston, New York; Howard W. Fenton, Chicago.

Organized Labor: For the American Federation of Labor: Samuel Gompers and Frank Morrison, Washington, D. C.; Daniel J. Tobin, Indianapolis; Joseph F. Valentine, Cincinnati; W. D. Mahon, Detroit; T. A. Rickert, Chicago; Jacob Flischer, Indianapolis; Matthew Woll, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Sara Conboy, New York City; William H. Johnston, Washington, D. C.; Paul Scharrenberg, San Francisco; John H. Donlin, Washington, D. C.; and M. F. Tighe, Pittsburgh.

For the four railroad brotherhoods—W. B. Sheppard, conductors; W. G. Lee, trainmen; Timothy Shea, firemen, and H. E. Wills, engineers.

National Industrial Conference—Frederick P. Fish, Boston; J. W. O'Leary, Chicago; S. Pemberton Hutchinson, Philadelphia; Edwin Farnham Green, Boston, and L. F. Loree, New York.

Paul L. Felsa of Cleveland called attention to the fact that his name had not been called. Mr. Mahany explained that Secretary Wilson had had a report of a death in Mr. Felsa's family, and was not sure but that it was yourself. Mr. Mahany and Secretary Wilson assured him that they were glad indeed that he was present, as representing the public. This incident brought the only laughter of the day.

Address by Secretary Wilson.

The proceedings were opened by Secretary Wilson in an address in which he called to the attention of the delegates the task confronting them, adding that a road to stable relationships between capital and labor must be found. Secretary Wilson expressed regret that President Wilson could not be present. The Secretary stated that the world faced the most difficult peace time problem it ever had to deal with because of the wastage of war. Secretary Wilson asserted that the material resources of the world have been impaired and that the power of the replacement of things had been impeded and industry disarranged. This, with the financial inflation throughout the world, had played havoc with the values of money, wages and commodities, he said. Secretary Wilson then continued:

"The effect of these things has been reflected in the high cost of living." Mr. Wilson continued, "and the consequent demand for higher wage rates to meet the increasing burden of the family budget."

"Yet increases in the wage rate do not always give relief."

"The more productive we are, the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for profiteering."

"For that reason we are all interested in the maintenance of industrial peace, but there can be no permanent industrial peace that is not based upon industrial justice. Surely human intelligence can devise some acceptable method of adjusting the relationship between employer and employee."

"Upon your shoulders rests a splendid responsibility. Before you the doors of in view of the temper of the conferees to transact business as rapidly as possible a straight organization is regarded as most likely. Whether the committee will present a single slate or a number of nominees likewise cannot be foretold. A nominee for each group may be presented.

Chairmanship Possibilities.

It seems likely that if an outsider is chosen Secretary of the Interior Lane will be asked to serve. If the choice falls to a conference member Robert S. Brookings, former assistant chairman of the War Industries Board, may be named.

He stands out as a likely choice, though Mr. McNabb and Mr. Chadbourne, it is understood, were in the running.

There were indications that Bernard M. Baruch, former chairman of the War Industries Board and public representative, would eliminate himself from consideration for the chairmanship. In today's session he played a formidable hand in the organization and progress of affairs, and he will probably be in effect floor leader of the public representation.

John Sparge raised the issue as to whether the major groups at the conference were to have separate conferences, but the idea apparently met with little favor. It was suggested that, as the conference was called in order that all factions could talk across the table to a common understanding, it would be better to have full conference meetings on all subjects.

Secretary Wilson pointed out that choice as to this matter rested with the conference and that it would have to determine whether caucuses were to mark the regular procedure.

There was little active participation in the progress of the comparatively short session today. Judge Gary, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Charles W. Elliot and other notables were only listeners.

Upon the opening of the conference Secretary Wilson appointed Rowland B. Mahany, former member of Congress, as temporary secretary. Mr. Mahany read the President's letter, which was the call for the conference. He then called the roll. All of the delegates were present with the exception of John L. Lewis, representative of the United Mine Workers of America, who are threatening a strike. The four railroad brotherhoods, who up to the last minute refused to commit themselves to attendance, were present.

The Delegates Present.

Those answering to the roll were:

For the Public—Bernard M. Baruch, New York; Robert S. Brookings, St. Louis; John D. Rockefeller, Jr., New York; Judge Elbert H. Gary, New York; Dr. Charles W. Elliot, Cambridge, Mass.; John Sparge, New York; O. E. Bradford, Xenia, Ohio; Ward M. Burgess, Omaha, Neb.; Fuller H. Galloway, La Grange, Ga.; Thomas L. Chadbourne, New York; H. B. Endicott, Dedham, Mass.; Paul L. Felsa, Cleveland; Henry S. Dennison, Framingham, Mass.; George R. James, Memphis, Tenn.; Thomas F. Jones, Chicago; A. A. London, Buffalo; E. T. Meredith, Des Moines; Gavin McNabb, San Francisco; L. D. Swift, Carbondale, Ill.; Louis Russell, New York; Bert M. Jewell, Washington, D. C.; Lillian Wald, New York; Gertrude Barnum, Berkeley, Cal.; and Ida M. Tarbell, New York.

Chamber of Commerce of the United States: Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago; Ernest T. Trigg, Philadelphia; Herbert opportunity are open. If you, in the abundance of your combined wisdom and experience can produce an acceptable document of this character, the results of your work will find a place in the hearts of men like the Magna Charta, the Bill of Rights, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and the Emancipation Proclamation."

At the conclusion of the session Magnus W. Alexander, managing director of the Industrial Conference Board, issued this statement:

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

Greeks Thank Y. M. C. A. Aids.

SALONICA, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos has addressed to Prof. John C. Granbery, professor of sociology at the University of Texas, director of the Greek-American Y. M. C. A. home recently opened at Salonica. Letter thanking him and his colleagues, Donald Williams, warmly for the brilliant and useful services rendered to the Greek army.

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

Greeks Thank Y. M. C. A. Aids.

SALONICA, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos has addressed to Prof. John C. Granbery, professor of sociology at the University of Texas, director of the Greek-American Y. M. C. A. home recently opened at Salonica. Letter thanking him and his colleagues, Donald Williams, warmly for the brilliant and useful services rendered to the Greek army.

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

Greeks Thank Y. M. C. A. Aids.

SALONICA, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos has addressed to Prof. John C. Granbery, professor of sociology at the University of Texas, director of the Greek-American Y. M. C. A. home recently opened at Salonica. Letter thanking him and his colleagues, Donald Williams, warmly for the brilliant and useful services rendered to the Greek army.

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

Greeks Thank Y. M. C. A. Aids.

SALONICA, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos has addressed to Prof. John C. Granbery, professor of sociology at the University of Texas, director of the Greek-American Y. M. C. A. home recently opened at Salonica. Letter thanking him and his colleagues, Donald Williams, warmly for the brilliant and useful services rendered to the Greek army.

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

Greeks Thank Y. M. C. A. Aids.

SALONICA, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos has addressed to Prof. John C. Granbery, professor of sociology at the University of Texas, director of the Greek-American Y. M. C. A. home recently opened at Salonica. Letter thanking him and his colleagues, Donald Williams, warmly for the brilliant and useful services rendered to the Greek army.

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

Greeks Thank Y. M. C. A. Aids.

SALONICA, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos has addressed to Prof. John C. Granbery, professor of sociology at the University of Texas, director of the Greek-American Y. M. C. A. home recently opened at Salonica. Letter thanking him and his colleagues, Donald Williams, warmly for the brilliant and useful services rendered to the Greek army.

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

Greeks Thank Y. M. C. A. Aids.

SALONICA, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos has addressed to Prof. John C. Granbery, professor of sociology at the University of Texas, director of the Greek-American Y. M. C. A. home recently opened at Salonica. Letter thanking him and his colleagues, Donald Williams, warmly for the brilliant and useful services rendered to the Greek army.

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

Greeks Thank Y. M. C. A. Aids.

SALONICA, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos has addressed to Prof. John C. Granbery, professor of sociology at the University of Texas, director of the Greek-American Y. M. C. A. home recently opened at Salonica. Letter thanking him and his colleagues, Donald Williams, warmly for the brilliant and useful services rendered to the Greek army.

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

opportunity are open. If you, in the abundance of your combined wisdom and experience can produce an acceptable document of this character, the results of your work will find a place in the hearts of men like the Magna Charta, the Bill of Rights, the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States and the Emancipation Proclamation."

At the conclusion of the session Magnus W. Alexander, managing director of the Industrial Conference Board, issued this statement:

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the employers when he declared in his opening address that the more productive we are the sooner we will replace the wastage of war, return to normal price levels and abolish the opportunity for undue profiteering, and in his further declaration that the conference has before it the opportunity for promoting the welfare of the country and of all mankind.

The spirit in which the conference begins justifies the expectation that real progress may be made in settling several great questions.

The employers are gratified that the four railway brotherhoods decided to participate, feeling that this makes for the harmonious unity which must be the keynote of constructive accomplishment.

Greeks Thank Y. M. C. A. Aids.

SALONICA, Oct. 6.—Premier Venizelos has addressed to Prof. John C. Granbery, professor of sociology at the University of Texas, director of the Greek-American Y. M. C. A. home recently opened at Salonica. Letter thanking him and his colleagues, Donald Williams, warmly for the brilliant and useful services rendered to the Greek army.

Secretary of Labor Wilson voiced the sentiments of the